THE MARKETS.

Wall Street Review.

New York, Nov. 16.—Although today's business was not so active as yesterday's, the market was not without interest. The tone of the trading and the showing of strength were the most important and substantial that have been noted since the election. The feverish and sensational movement in isolated stocks and the indication of a general recovery were not so strong today. Instead there was a steady and persistent absorption of stocks of the best character with legitimate speculative prospects of increased earnings for the future. The eastern trunk lines and fuel carriers were rather conspicuous exceptions and were not largely traded in nor widely moved, but there was no positive weakness manifested even there. There was no important exception to the upward course of prices, and among the stocks of railroads all through the south and west including the continental lines, the strength was astonishingly uniform. There was a steady railroad stock trading in within limits that did not get out of hand. A few more two points or over. The Burlington, 124 1/2; Erie, 124 1/2; Great Northern, 124 1/2; Illinois Central, 124 1/2; Northern Pacific, 124 1/2; St. Paul, 124 1/2; Union Pacific, 124 1/2; Wisconsin Central, 124 1/2. The soft coal roads also made a good show of strength. The preferred stocks of road and fuel carriers were evidently the favorites in the speculation from the way one after the other of them were brought forward into the trading. Those with prospect of increased dividends and those already receiving their full dividends rights seemed to be in equal favor. The Iron and Steel stocks were notably strong and in Colorado Fuel the gain was 4 1/2. In Tennessee Coal and Iron preferred 3 1/2. Others of the group gained two points or upwards. The local traction stocks and the high priced industrial were strong but were not conspicuous. General Electric got up another 1/2. Consolidated Gas, as much, Brooklyn Union Gas 4 1/2, while Erie Fuel made made a good show of strength. Erie Fuel made made a good show of strength. Erie Fuel made made a good show of strength.

The substantial character of the buying was even more manifest in the bond market than in the stock market. The buying was confined to additional favor. Prices were very generally high. Total sales, par value
